And the former swimwear model will face no criminal charges as the pupils were over the age of consent.

She quit her post at Bishops Diocesan school in Cape Town, South Africa, on October 10, amid allegations of a relationship with an 18-year-old pupil.

The school later announced more pupils may have been involved.

Probe boss Francois van Zyl and attorney Graeme Dorrington emphasised their findings were based on information obtained during interviews.

The investigators found Viotti had acted in breach of the Bishops Code of Professional Conduct for Teaching Staff and the Code of Staff and the Code of Professional Ethics issued by the South African Council of Educators.

Videos

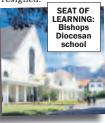

The probe could not determine to whom Viotti had sent photos and videos of herself, which were of a sexual nature.

It was alleged Viotti had sent a pupil a selfie of her wearing skimpy lace panties which went viral on social media, along with a video allegedly of her wanking on a bed.

But the investigation found that during the period 2013 to 2019, while employed as a teacher at the school, she had engaged in sexual misconduct with at least five pupils.

The school said Viotti had opted to not make written submissions to the investigators after her resignation.

"My client was not interviewed," Viotti's lawyer, William Booth, said, adding: "I advised her not to comment because it wasn't a hearing. There was no disciplinary inquiry because she had already resigned."

Phantom shit flinger caught by the cops

By ABRAHAM MOSS news@sundaysport.co.uk

RESIDENTS of a city can finally breathe easier after a filthy phantom SHIT FLINGER was caught cack-handed by police.

Cops have arrested a man they Cops have arrested a man they believe is behind a series of sick "faeces-dumping" attacks on five people at two college campuses.

Officers arrested Samuel Opoku, 23, after circulating surveillance photos of the suspect and pleading for help from the public in catching him.

Liquid

Opoku is believed to have launched three bizarre attacks where he dumped a bucket of liquid shit matter on five unsuspecting victims – who all happen to be Asian – all in a matter of four days.

He has since been charged with five counts of assault with a weapon and five of mischief.

Constable Alex Li said: "We thank the community for their help and support with this investigation.

"It is quite disturbing, but our team has put all our resources together."

The latest attack happened last Monday night where Opoku allegedly targeted a female outside a building which belongs to the University of Toronto in Canada.

The faeces flinger first struck after entering the John P. Robarts Research Library on the same campus. He allegedly walked over toward two people seated at a table and poured a bucket of liquefied faecal matter all over them.

Opoku is said to have struck again last Sunday after entering the Scott Library on the York University's Keele campus at around 5pm before he "deposited a substance, suspected of containing faecal matter" on a woman and a man.

Police released CCTV images from the York incident, where Opoku is pictured smiling and carrying a bucket with a handle.

Officials haven't confirmed if it's human waste that was thrown at the five victims, who authorities believe were targeted at random.

In an investigation into the children's deaths in September, police found at least three explicit messages sent by Snyder that indicated she engaged in sex acts with a black and white dog – a pit bull-husky mix she reportedly gave away before the children's deaths.

She was subsequently charged with having sex with an animal.
Police said that before Conner and Brinley were found hanged, Snyder conducted web searches for "hanging yourself" and visited a website with instructions on hanging a person.

On the day police responded to the home, Snyder called them and said that her son was bullied and "had made threats of doing this,

but didn't want to go alone."

Police arrived at the home in Albany, Pennsylvania and found the children hanged from the wire leash, which was attached to support beams, with two wooden chairs found overturned nearby. Snyder is being held in custody.

I AM a 40-year-old main and a have been mapped wife for two years.

We decided that we would like to try something different sexually a few weeks ago and had a foursome with my best friend and his wife.

As you can imagine it was quite a nervy experience and, to be honest, I had a spot of bother getting it up.

My friend was the opposite and had no trouble satisfying both my wife and his.

My friend was the opposite and had no trouble sausiying both my wife and his.

I have to say that contrary to what I expected I found it horrible seeing my wife having sex with another man, especially the pleasure she seemed to take in giving him oral to completion.

Size than I have not really been having yeary good say

Since then I have not really been having very good sex with my wife. Have I made a mistake?

DON'T do this again, as it has had such a bad effect on you.

Dear Kelly,

I'M a delivery driver and last month I took a rug to a house, where a woman wearing just a skimpy bra and knickers came to the door. She said: "Come in and I'll pay you," and pay me she did!

me she did!
As soon as I'd shut the door, she undid my zip and pulled out my rock-hard cock.
She took my knob to the back of her throat and I licked her wet pussy so hard she came in my face, just as I ejaculated in her mouth.
After I'd recovered, she knelt on all fours with her rounded arse in the air and I fked her doggy-style.
As I was about to leave I asked for the rug money, but she just stared at me and said she didn't have it!
What should I do?

When she nipped out to the shops, I went upstairs and had a good rummage through her knicker drawer.

I pulled out lots of sexy stuff, but she came back unexpectedly and caught me having a wank in her bedroom, with one of her thongs pressed to my face.

Blind date hunk opened my eyes to brilliant sex

Dear Kelly,

I'M 28 and after splitting from my husband I turned into a bit of a recluse.

I have some good girlfriends and one of them rang me to say she had fixed me up with a blind date.

At first I was a bit annoyed with her and slammed down the phone.

her and slammed down the phone.
Thankfully, I'd calmed down when she phoned back later and urged me not to pass up a good opportunity.
She told me the guy in question was her mate's good-looking brother who worked in her office.
He was also five years younger than me, so I thought I'd be a fool not to give it a go and told her to fix up a date.

Erection

She arranged for us to meet in a pub and I got there early and sat in a corner. Then the door swung open and in walked this absolute Adonis of a man.

walked this absolute Adonis of a man.
My friend must have given him a good description of me because he walked right over and introduced himself.
We had a good night and at closing time he asked if he could take me home.
We got a cab back to my house. Once inside, I showed him into the lounge and went to the kitchen for some more wine.
When I returned he was naked on the sofa – and he had the most enormous erection I'd ever seen!
He said: "I don't believe in beating about the bush. Why don't you join me?"
I didn't need asking twice and seconds

Until a few weeks ago, the missus had always been totally against it. But as my 40th birthday was coming up, she asked what I wanted and I told her it was to see her fking a babe.

To my astonishment she said okay, so we got down to some planning. She told me there was a girl she worked with who was a lesbo and the next day she convinced this lady to come round to our place.

We arranged it so that I would hide in the loft. I drilled a hole in the lid and peeped through when my wife brought home her "girlfriend".

Dildo

The pair were soon in the bedroom together and wasted no time stripping each other down to their sexy undies.

The lesbian lady had a fantastic pair of tits, which my missus was soon licking and sucking on after easing off her bra.

NITED CAN END JOSE'S

 12 months after he was sacked by Manchester
 United – and the 234th Merseyside derby are the feature games on a wonderful Premier League evening.

Mourinho's Spurs have won all three matches since Mourinno's Spurs have won all three matches since he took over in north London but they have conceded twice in all three games although in both Premier League successes his team have been 3-0 up before conceding two late consolations to West Ham and Bournemouth. This will be a sterner test of Mourinho's Spurs and I would expect the Old Trafford faithful to get right behind their side and manager Ole Gunnar Solskjaer despite their 2-2 draw with Villa on Sunday, United are 17/10 at BetVictor with Spurs marginal United are 1/10 at BetVictor with Spurs marginal favourites at 8/5 with the draw 12/5. Spurs are 6/4 to finish the campaign in the top four with United out to 8/1 to finish in a Champions League berth.

This is one of the iconic fixtures in the calendar, and I think United will edge it with the tip United to win and both teams to score at 15/4 which is be a tad overpriced.

Everton have not won at Anfield in over 20 long and painful years — Kevin Campbell scored a late winner back in September 1999 — and it is hard to make a case for the Blues who go into the game just one place and two points above the drop zone.

Liverpool's last three goals have been headers from their central defenders, courtesy of Trent Alexander-Arnold set-pieces and the full back has contributed 17 assists since the start of last season - more than any other player in the division and he is a full back!

Timescale

The Reds must do without the suspended Alisson but they have won 14 successive home league games yet not kept a clean sheet at Anfield in any competition so far this season. Until now. The Reds are 2/5 to make it 15 home league wins on the spin with Everton 7s and the draw 19/5 at BetVictor.

Liverpool to win to nil is 31/20 and that is the recommendation with the Blues having such a poor record at Anfield. Note Bournemouth boss Eddie Howe is now 5/4 market leader to be the next manager of Everton

- Irrespective of the timescale – with David Moyes out to 2s and Rafael Benitez somehow backed into 6/1!!

Southampton entertain Norwich in a game involving two sides who begin the night in the bottom three. They kick-off (7.30) at St Mary's 45 minutes before things get under way on Merseyside. If Saints win then Liverpool and their supporters will be well aware that three points for the Reds will see the Blues in the relegation zone. Southampton are 8/11 to beat the Canaries.

One would imagine a heavy defeat at Anfield would mark the end of the Marco Silva era at Everton. Note the Blues are currently 8/1 to be playing Championship football next season.

Things are likely to get worse before they get better for Everton.

He said: "I'm not going to discuss these individual things.

"If I tell vou that I didn't speak with Mr Levy about Eriksen, Alderweireld and Vertonghen, I would be lying. So, yes I'm speaking with Mr Levy about it.

"At the same time, I speak also with the players, with all of them.

Amazing

"We speak and try to understand every detail but it's not something I'm going to discuss.

"The important thing, really, is they're great professionals, big relationship with Tottenham, amazing understanding of what the club is and what we need from them.

"So, all three ready to play, all three ready to forget the contractual situation.

"And that's the most important thing now because we're in three competitions.

'And these boys are great players and Tottenham people. I trust

Manchester United came in with a bid for Eriksen in the summer but fell short of the daft £80m that Levy was asking for.

They could return at less than half of that with the Reds desperate for more quality in their midfield.

But they will have to act now before Eriksen signs a pre-contract agreement with a club in Europe that will kick in at the end of the season.

Both Real Madrid and

Paris St Germain have been linked so United have strong competition.

FIRE AGA ROOT: ARCHER WILL

ENGLAND skipper Joe Root is confident Jofra Archer will get his mojo back. The speedster had a tough time in the two-match series against New Zealand, with just two wickets.

two wickets.

He wasn't helped by a series of bad dropped catches, including one of the worst of all-time by Joe Denly.

But his bowling lacked any edge with slow pitches and the unhelpful Kookaburra ball both against him.

Root said: "I think he'll learn a huge amount from this, I really CRICKET do. He's obviously an extremely exciting talent and he's got so much to offer Test cricket and this team and I'm sure it won't be long till we see him tear it up

"He's found out there are a number of ways you've got to be able to operate and you've got to show real resilience when it does get quite flat and keep putting in time and time again, which he did.

"He showed a great amount of variety in trying to take wickets and produce an opportunity.

He was bowling with no front arm, bowling his knuckle balls, a couple of leg-cutters and a quick bouncer every now and again to change the pace.

"It shows he's got all the skills that are there, it's now just putting it all together. I'm sure he'll learn very quickly and I'm pretty confident we'll get the best out of him soon.

The Denly drop was so bad that Archer didn't even check he'd caught the ball before celebrating the wicket. He was stunned when Kane Williamson's powder-puff shot was put on the ground.

Root finds it funny now but it could have been different if the second Test was closer.

In the end it fizzled out to a bore draw on a pitch that failed to help the bowlers.

The skipper will be winding Denly up about the drop.

He added: "I'm sure Joe will not hear the end of that one for a while. I think it was just a oneoff goober that doesn't happen often."

The Special One was fired by Manchester United almost a year ago. Now he's taken over at Tottenham and promptly won his first three games in
